

The Paris Treasure Hunt celebrates sport!

On the occasion of UEFA EURO 2016, the 11th edition of the Paris Treasure Hunt will celebrate sport and its values on Saturday, July 2nd during an exceptional treasure hunt.

This year and for the first time, the 5th arrondissement of Paris and the city of Aubervilliers will participate in the Paris Treasure Hunt. This exceptional event reunites every year thousands of fans interested in this kind of recreational tourism that reveals Paris through plots and enigmas.

Challenges, mysteries and happiness will gather the wannabe explorers in the streets of Paris and its suburbs on Saturday, July 2nd, starting at 10:00 a.m. Departures are from 6 different locations, find all the information on www.tresorsdeparis.fr.

This year, the plot is focused on sport values on the occasion of UEFA EURO 2016. The players will have the opportunity to discover 15 arrondissements of Paris in an unusual way (3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th) as well as the suburban cities of Aubervilliers and Saint-Denis.

For this new edition, 50 paths were created, accessible for all and available in French and English, for people with reduced mobility, wannabe detectives and experts.

The diversity of the paths will be the occasion for the players to discover Paris and its many sites dedicated to sport. Sports associations will animate the paths and present activities to discover new sports disciplines.

The sponsor of this 11th edition of the Paris Treasure Hunt is Sarah Ourahmoune, professional boxer, 9 times France champion, world champion of English boxing and currently preparing for the next Olympic Games!
